

COULD YOU HELP WITH A DEMENTIA RESEARCH STUDY?

We want to improve care for people with dementia.

We are inviting people to take part in an interview to share their experiences of conversations with health and social care professionals, and how these conversations could be improved.

We are looking for:

- People with dementia, or memory and thinking problems
- Who live alone
- Who do not get regular support from someone, such as family or friends with using health and social care services

What taking part involves:

- An interview with a researcher, lasting up to 1 hour. This can be done via video call, phone, or in person
- Talking about your experiences and opinions
- The interview will be audio recorded and written up. Your personal details will be removed so no one can identify you
- As appreciation, you will be offered a £20 high street voucher.

Please contact Gianna Kohl if you would like to find out more or take part:

 G.Kohl@ucl.ac.uk  020 7679 5789

The INDEP study is run by researchers at University College London and Queen Mary University of London. It is funded by the National Institute for Health and care Research.